Bijou Tomorrow

JANE GAIL IN "RUFERT OF HENTZAU"

Jane Gail, favorite star of moving pictures and famous as a stage celebrity in many great dramas, will be the Queen of the Bijou tomorrow, playing the dual role of Rudolf Stasendyl and King Rudolf V. of Ruritania. The famous story by Anthony Hope is the sequel to "The Prisoner of Zenda." "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "Rupert of Hentzau" were two of the best selling books of their day—and even now hundreds of copies are sold every month throughout the country. "Rupert of Hentzau" tells the most thrilling and completed story. Aside from the purely emotional work, which makes Jane Gail the peer of any woman who has ever acted in photoplays, there will be numerous other dramatic advantages to delight the theatergoers who will come to the Bijou tomorrow, to see this feature.

HACHITA, ARMY'S BASE OF SUPPLY

Motor Trucks and Wagon Trains Transport Supplies To Troops on Border.

Hachita, N. M., March 15.—While Col. George A. Dodd with the Second cavalry brigade was at Culberson's ranch on the border south of here, preparing to enter Mexico, Hachita was being used as a base of supplies for the troops between Douglas and Columbus.

The quartermaster's supply base, composed of two bakery companies, is located here. During the past few days supply trains, made up of wagons and trucks of ranchers, have been forwarding large supplies to the camps on the border. One battery of the Sixth field artillery is with the troops south of here. Two companies of the 11th infantry are on patrol duty between here and the base on the border. That the various columns and bases will be in constant communication with each other by wireless is evidenced by a wireless station erected here by the signal corps. Thus the advancing column will constantly know the location of the various detachments and movements of the supply trains.

Motor trucks, two-wagon trains and two pack trains are being used to transport provisions and other supplies from the local railroad base.

Large numbers of men who know the interior of Chihuahua and Sonora, as well as Mexicans, have presented themselves for the most dangerous work of undertaking to put an end to the raids of bandits under Villa.

Capture means death and death only for them in their work of feeling out the way for the troops, for it is certain the bandits will not take prisoners.

The border, from Culberson's ranch west to Douglas, is guarded by patrols of infantrymen and numerous patrol camps are located along the railroad for a considerable distance east of Douglas.

Citizens of every county along the border are also being organized by the sheriffs. For the present they are preparing to act as home guards, but if the call comes they will be ready to volunteer for patrol or any other duty requested by the government.

The senate has recently passed a bill recognizing within a few years the ability of Philippine people for self-government, said senator Sherman. "If we adhere to the declared purpose, we consequently ought no longer be charged with full responsibility for the protection or control of the islands."

Would Restore 12,000 Troops. "The Philippine scouts, natives, remained in the islands number 325. If conditions there are as described by senators who supported the bill, the Philippines ought to be able with the scouts and such native forces as a potential self-governing people can supply, to maintain order without the 12,000 officers and troops proposed to be withdrawn by this legislation."

MEXICAN TROOPS ENTRENCHED 25 MILES SOUTHEAST DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ariz., March 15.—Arrivals from Sonora this morning state that several hundred de facto troops entrenched themselves at Las Juntas De Las Ambudas and Cajon Bonita, near Chihuahua, Sonora, 25 miles southeast of here. The position is on a plateau overlooking the roads and is quite strong. The object of the entrenchment is unknown.

Naco and vicinity were quiet today. The mines and concentrator of the Moctezuma Copper company are operating as usual, but entirely under direction of a Mexican foreman. Naco's railroad operations are likewise being directed by Mexican employees. All Americans having withdrawn.

El Tigre advises indicate the management is continuing operation of that property and has decided not to bring the foreign employees to the border.

WRECK DELAYS REFUGEE TRAIN

Gen. Gonzales Sends Family From Torreon on Train With American Refugees.

Torreon, Mex., March 15.—A wreck on the railroad near Monterey prevented the departure of the refugee train for the border yesterday and today 21 additional Americans decided to go. These are leaving in accordance with advice to United States consul Williams. Consul Williams has turned the American consulate over to British vice-consul Patrick O'Shea.

Gonzales Sends His Family. In a statement issued yesterday Gen. Francisco Gonzales the Carranza commander, said his family would go out on the same train that takes the Americans, and that the train would certainly have an adequate escort of soldiers. "Americans need have no fear," said Gen. Gonzales. "We will escort all of them over the border and give every protection so matter what happens. We are not seeking trouble with the United States and I hope matters will be satisfactorily arranged, but if the worst comes to the worst, we want to see all Americans safely across the Rio Grande."

Do Not Expect Trouble. Torreon papers published the text of Gen. Gonzales's statement and of the telegram explaining the object of the expedition after Villa and editorially the papers said they could not understand the possibility of a breach between friendly neighbors.

CHICAGO HERALD

A Great Cast

Few photoplays of recent making have had stronger casts than "The Fourth Estate," produced by William Fox. The cast includes Clifford Bruce, who was a star under Charles Frohman, and who played with Maude Adams and other favorites. Mr. Bruce also played in "A Fool There Was" with Theda Bara, and has been seen in other Fox features.

Samuel J. Ryan, who plays the part of Ross Duprey, is one of the oldest and best known actors in the business. He was for years leading man for Coban and Harris and played prominent parts in "The Yankee Prince," "Little Johnny Jones," and other Coban and Harris plays.

Alfred Hickman, who plays the corrupt judge, was the original "Little Billy" in "Trilby," and has scored notable successes in other productions, including several William Fox pictures.

Victor Benoit, who plays the part of the newspaper reporter, is a screen favorite of long standing. In "The Fourth Estate," he is cast in a part that perfectly fits him.

Ruth Blair, co-star with Mr. Ryan and Mr. Bruce, has appeared on the stage under the management of the Selwyns. She has many successes to her credit.
